Council Adopts Budget Requiring Payless Holidays

CITY EMPLOYEES MUST 'LAY OFF' 3 DAYS A MONTH

Annual Vacations With Pay Also Eliminated in Committee Sheet Approved; All Workers Except Teachers Affected.

$229,500 IS ADDED TO SCHOOL FUND

$29,500 of Georgia Tech's $32,000 Appropriation Given to Schools; Debate on Sheet Is Lively.

Relief for unpaid city employees was promised Monday afternoon when a 1932 finance sheet passed by a conference committee offered council by a vote of 17 to 8 and the aldermanic board 9 to 2, and was sent to Mayor James L. Key for his consideration.

Mayor Key's decision on approving or vetoing the sheet will probably hinge on the attitude of the Atlanta banks toward the budget, which adds $200,000 to the public schools fund from the contingent fund and requires city employees to take three days vacation each month without pay, through December.

The sheet eliminates annual vacations with pay, and substitutes three days of payless vacation each month for all departments except the schools. It eliminates efforts to have the police and fire departments take voluntary cuts of 10 per cent in their pay checks, salaries of firemen and policemen being fixed by law.

Tech Loss Funds.
The adopted sheet transfers $29,500 of Georgia Tech's $32,000 appropriation to the board of education, and increases the fire department's appropriation by $15,734.41, from the contingent fund. The sheet lops $12,000 from the trust fund of the police station. The loss in pay to city employees under the adopted budget is practically the same as provided in other sheets which have been considered.

Council passed the conference committee's budget over the warning of Councilman James L. Wells, chairman of the finance committee, that under this sheet the city will not be able to borrow money to pay employees.

Ransom Withholds Opinion.
Ronald Ransom, vice president of the Fulton National bank and president of the Atlanta Clearing House Association, Monday night declined to express an opinion as to whether the budget council passed would reestablish the city's credit in so far as the national banks of the municipality are concerned.

"We would have to see the budget and probably would wish to hold a conference with it," he said.

Wife of Atlantan Leaps to Death

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Leaving letters addressed to her husband in Atlanta, Ga., and her parents in Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Elberta De Bardeleben, 29, leaped to her death yesterday from the twelfth floor of a hotel a year after she attempted suicide by jumping in front of a subway train.

"I lost my nerve, but never mind, I'll succeed next time," she remarked to police when they picked her up unharmed after the earlier attempt.

In the letter to her husband Lindsay De Bardeleben, an engineer now on an Atlanta construction job, the woman asked forgiveness for her act and said she had "made an effort to snap out of this thing that has me down mentally. Instead of being a comfort, I'm a burden."

The other letter was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Hiles, in Buffalo, N. Y. Mrs. De Bardeleben, who had been living here with her mother-in-law, registered at the hotel under the name of Mrs. Eden Wright, of Madison, Wis.

Sutton Obtains Writ To Bar Interference by Talmadge

DR. W. E. WHITE.

Counsel for Dr. J. M. Sutton, Georgia state veterinarian, Monday night obtained a temporary injunction against Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, prohibiting the state farm head from further interfering with activities of Dr. Sutton's office. The restraining order was the latest development in the controversy over a $75,000 fund allocated to the veterinarian's office, which Talmadge has seized as head of the agriculture department.

Paul Lindsay, attorney representing Dr. Sutton, obtained the writ from Judge Edgar E. Ponder, of Fulton superior court, in the absence of McRae, Ga., of Judge Graham of the Oconee circuit. The order is returnable to Judge Graham's court at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Shortly before the injunction was obtained, W. J. Crowe, of counsel for Dr. Sutton, announced that any effort of Talmadge to take over the office now occupied by Dr. Sutton and his staff would be resisted with the "use of such force as is necessary." The statement by Crowe followed announcement of the appointment by Talmadge of Dr. W. E. White as director of veterinary work in the department of agriculture.

Dr. White arrived in Atlanta early Monday and spent the day familiarizing himself with the duties of the veterinary chief's office, preparing, it was said, to take over both field and staff work. Inspectors reinstated by Dr. Sutton recently over the dismissal of Talmadge were reported on duty in other parts of the state.

In a statement issued in connection with the injunction, Mr. Lindsay said:

RUTH JUDD INSANE, PARTY LINES SPLIT DOCTOR DECLARES OVER JOB RELIEF

Defense Begins Effort To Prove Murderess Long Has Been Unbalanced.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Opening volleys in the battle of psychiatrists were fired by the defense today in the Winnie Ruth Judd murder trial after Dr. W. C. Judd had testified that the defendant was insane.

Dr. George W. Stephens, superintendent of the Arizona state hospital at Holbrook, testified that Judd "did not know right from wrong" on last October 16 when Agnes Anne LeRoy and Hedvig Samuelson were slain.

"She has paranoid delusions, particularly in regard to people," Dr. Stephens said, adding that she still suffers from dementia praecox with a paranoid fixation. The psychiatrist said the slender bobbed-haired defendant had told him a number of things that he was satisfied were not true.

Dr. Judd, first witness of the day, told his wife's plans for a child, which never materialized, and said that at times she seemed to believe she had a baby.

The trial was resumed today after a recess of several days due to the illness of two jurors and Mrs. Judd, who was entering from a severe cold. Mrs. Judd, being tried on the indictment in the LeRoy slaying, protested against resumption of the case and was threatened with being handcuffed before she abandoned her fight. Physicians had said she was able to return to the court room.

Mrs. Judd, Dr. Stephens said he had observed, suffered from irresponsibility of emotions.

"When her own mother was here on this witness stand, Mrs. Judd sat there without comprehension. She was completely indifferent—and indifference is one of the marked characteristics of dementia praecox," Dr. Stephens said.

Boycott by Nations Urged by Koo As Instrument of Peace in East

The league of nations has at its disposal the mightiest of weapons to end war if it will but use it, Dr. T. T. Koo, noted Chinese educator, asserted in an address to a college group at the Tech Y. M. C. A. auditorium Monday night. This weapon is an international boycott and should be used to end the present Chinese-Japanese tangle, he asserted.

The entire future of the league of nations depends on what it will accomplish in the present far eastern crisis, he declared. "If the league fails now, it will have proven itself incapable of mastering the situations as it should, and it will lose its power."

The power of an international boycott, if applied to China and Japan alike would force them to come to an agreement, the speaker added. If the league fails to use this boycott it will not be because the machinery of the league has failed, he asserted, but because the peoples of the nations in the league will not be willing to pay

SHANGHAI CRISIS CASTS SHADOW ON ARMS PARLEY

Reparations Issue Also Seen as Dark Cloud as Delegations Arrive for Conference's Opening.

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER.
GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Clouds—two dark clouds—the Sino-Japanese conflict, and reparations—were brooding ominously on Geneva's horizon tonight as delegations from 60-odd nations made final preparations for tomorrow's opening of the disarmament conference.

For the moment, Shanghai events overshadow even this most formidable of all parliaments ever assembled to relieve humanity at least partially of armament burdens.

On the other hand there are indications that just as soon as the financial side of the armament question was touched, a deliberate effort would be made on the part of some delegations to raise the question of war debts and reparations and use them as bargaining points.

From conversation with individual delegates it is already clear that two diametrically opposed deductions will be made from the existence of the Sino-Japanese conflict. The first is that this conflict brings added proof of the necessity of world disarmament.

Dr. Woolley Adamant, representing the United States, said: "I view that the necessity of disarmament never was more clearly evident than by the turn far eastern events have taken." Dr. Mary Woolley, American delegate, said: "Similar views were expressed in the German and Italian delegations."

Contradicting this view was another to the effect that the Sino-Japanese conflict showed a necessity of additional security for each nation, security being identified with greater armaments.

In this connection a spokesman for the Japanese delegation assured the Associated Press that "all is quiet around Shanghai—there are no new developments."

Insisting the Sino-Japanese conflict had no bearing on the conference, he said: "The Sino-Japanese conflict is purely a local one which the Chinese and we will settle in co-operation with the League of Nations council."

The disarmament conference is a world problem whose solution concerns everybody and which it takes time to settle. It has no connection with the Far Eastern crisis."

Still others, especially delegates from the minor powers, agreeing on the necessity of added security, were prepared to argue that such security could come only by placing international relations on a basis of law and justice.

Thus the Sino-Japanese conflict has projected itself into the world disarmament conference not only as an immediate pressing one requiring concrete action by the League of Nations council, but as one likely to provoke fundamental differences of opinion over lessons to be drawn from it.

More Firemen.
One viewpoint demanded additional firemen to quench outbreaks of conflict; another insisted that the fire department be reduced.

All indications tonight pointed to the probability that an attempt would be made to inject reparations and war debt questions into the conference on the grounds that the finance committee, which is to be one of five outstanding committees, could not progress unless it also took into account how the last war is to be paid for.

In some European delegations there seemed to be a feeling that America's participation in the disarmament conference would offer an opportunity to get the United States on record in this question, which it allegedly sidestepped by declining to participate in the League of Nations council.

American delegates were quick, however, to inform American correspondents—without specifically referring to this question—that on all problems affecting Europe or one group of conference participants only, the United States would stand aloof. This was taken to be a clear hint that America would not be drawn into the reparations issue.

Republicans Stand.
On the other side of the aisle, the regular republican faction was lined up against the measure. President Hoover has opposed federal unemployment relief in no uncertain terms. The western republican independent group, of which La Follette is a leader, favored the bill.

Earlier in the day, a house labor subcommittee head Edward F. McGrady, legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor, said that the military clause in Tokyo, which the military clique in Tokyo, who are now in power, insist that this is not war. Yet they have invaded our territory, killed our people and destroyed our government in Manchuria. If this isn't war I don't know what war is.

The two governments should work out a plan whereby they may seek a mutually co-operative basis of government in Manchuria. Nations of the west could stop this turmoil if they would exercise the boycott for peace. It would hurt some merchants, but it is the only sane way.

"The league of nations is not at fault. The fault lies with the people. If they will not shrink from this spiritual and moral issue, and will back up the league with the boycott, there will be no war."

GIRL VOWS LOVE FOR SLAIN MAN MARKS TAG ACTION

Rose Allen Says Donaldson Was 'Fine,' as Brother's Trial Opens.

BY W. S. SPEAR.
NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Rose Allen, one of the principal figures in the killing of her sweetheart, Francis A. Donaldson III, reasserted her love for the dead man today as her brother, Edward, went on trial for slaying him.

While a jury was being picked in the court room to pass judgment on the brother, Rose sat in the office of the district attorney and told of her feelings for the man her brother shot.

"I love 'Skinny' as much today as I ever did," she said in referring to Donaldson.

"My allegiance to 'Skinny' is just what it always has been," she added after a pause. "I feel as if I am still engaged to the man I wanted to marry."

Miss Allen tried to keep back tears as she talked haltingly.

Donaldson, 24-year-old son of a socially prominent family, was killed with a shotgun by Allen at the Allen apartment in the Green Hill Farms hotel after a quarrel. Donaldson went to the apartment to try to bring about peace between Eddie and his sister. She had gone to a Philadelphia hotel, summoned Donaldson and told him she had been ordered from the house.

Miss Allen was clad in black. Her mother died last spring.

After professing anew her love for Donaldson, Miss Allen bowed her head in her hands and then lifted a face that tried to smile.

"Still we all have to go on, don't we?" she asked. "I suppose the only thing to do is to try to forget."

"Skinny and I had wanted to be married for months and every once in a while we came to my father asking her to permit it," she said after another long pause. "It was my father

U. S. MAY ORDER CITIZENS TO LEAVE CHINESE CITIES

General Evacuation Hinted as Situation in Far East Grows More Alarming.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Japan's refusal to heed the protestations of western powers gave rise tonight to fears of carnage in China, and evacuation of Americans soon may begin.

After anxious days through which the United States and Great Britain stood alone, France and Italy formally united with them against Japanese use of the International Settlement at Shanghai as a base from which to attack the Chinese.

Their position strengthened by this support, America and Great Britain tonight transmitted to Japan new and vigorous protests.

The nature of these was guarded by the state department, but they came after Secretary Stimson had talked by telephone to Ray Atherton, American charge d'affaires at London.

While this consolidation of western powers against strife in the Orient was taking shape, warcraft from Tokyo opened an banking in such manner as to cause the American destroyer Simpson to shift "to safer berth"—as the navy was advised.

Fear Felt for Foreigners.
And hundreds of miles away from the shooting on the Yangtze, violence so threatened the coastal cities of Swatow, Amoy and Chefoo that alarm moves to the safety of foreigners. United States destroyers will head at once wherever needed to transport citizens of this country to safety.

Lieutenant Commander Rutledge, commanding the Simpson, reported here neither the Chinese ships at Nanking nor batteries on the shore returned the Japanese fire. He held the destroyers ready to evacuate the 200 Americans there Tuesday, if Willys R. Peck—consul general—directs.

Working overtime, President Hoover kept up to the minute with latest news from the far east crisis. The state, navy and war departments communicated reports to him as soon as received; and Secretary Stimson was by his side for a length of time.

Of the decisions made, one designated Ambassador Forbes at Tokyo the most generous latitude.

Given More Authority.
This country's positive position has been very firmly defined in repeated communications to the Japanese. Now Forbes has blanket authority to cooperate with his British, French and Italian colleagues in any and all efforts to ease the plight of their nationals in China.

After the Hoover-Stimson meeting, it was emphasized that the state department has the task toward Shanghai of warships and troops was solely

Blanton Raps Order For Warship Move

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A warning that if a few American warships are shot in the Japanese-Chinese disturbance in Shanghai "we are sure to become involved in war" was sounded today by Representative Blanton.

Bringing to the floor of the house for the first time the crisis in the Orient, the Texas democrat charged the administration was sending warships to China "to protect a few Chinese merchants."

"Do you think we should not protect our people who are rightfully there at Shanghai?" Representative Parnell, republican, Indiana, demanded.

"I think we should, but don't send military forces," Parnell replied. "We should give our people transportation and get them out of there."

"That's what we are sending the warships for," Parnell said. "Do you think they can swim back?"

Representative McKeown, democrat, Oklahoma, said: "I don't think this is the time to discuss the matter."

Blanton replied that "nevertheless if we don't watch our step, we're going to be involved in war."

In his dissent, Chairman Doyal said

FIRING RESUMES BETWEEN SNIPERS AND JAP MARINES

Bullets Strike American Building; Shelling of Nanking Sends Foreigners to Safety of Ship.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A spokesman for leading Wall Street banking interests said today that neither Japan nor China could obtain a loan in New York or London to finance a far eastern war.

New York bankers, the spokesman said, had not been asked for a loan, nor was any such request anticipated.

Wall Street believes, he said, that neither Japan nor China could finance a major war without outside help.

The spokesman said he placed no credence in a rumor that the evacuation of Americans from Nanking could be obtained in Paris.

By the Associated Press.
Japanese guns spoke in a new place today. The forts at Nanking, seat of the government of China until it was moved last Sunday to the protection of the interior, were shelled by three Japanese ships of war lying in the Yangtze river.

New and vigorous diplomatic representations were made to Japan by America and Great Britain. Their nature was not disclosed.

Firing broke out afresh in the Hongkew area of Shanghai's International Settlement. London heard that Chinese troops were massing behind the north station in Shanghai, while Japanese who occupied the area were pushing forward their outposts and reinforcing their troops, with a big battle feared imminent.

Thousands of refugees from the Nanking waterfront streamed through the black night to less exposed portions of the city.

A force of Japanese was landed under cover of the bombardment. They encountered fresh Chinese troops barricaded behind sandbags, and there was a big exchange of machine-gun fire.

The United States destroyer Simpson, on duty off Nanking to protect the 200 American residents, was forced to shift its berth to get out of the line of Japanese gunfire.

Washington dispatches indicated that the evacuation of Americans in Chinese danger zones might begin soon. Hundreds of miles away from the center of the Sino-Japanese conflict, the Chinese coastal cities of Swatow, Amoy and Chefoo were threatened with violence, and alarm was felt for the safety of foreigners. American destroyers will go at once wherever they are needed to protect United States citizens.

France and Italy formally joined with the United States and Great Britain against the use of the International Settlement at Shanghai by the Exponent of intelligently-guided recreation as a cure for crime and social degeneracy, Dr. Lawrence Pearsall Jacks (left), famous British educator, author and lecturer, is shown at the banquet table with Colonel Frederic Paxton at the Presidents Club dinner Monday night. Staff photo by Bill Mason.

The search for pleasure is the greatest force of civilization today, but the manner in which people seek happiness is so "stupid and muddled-headed" that it is responsible for a large proportion of social evils, in the opinion of Dr. Lawrence Pearsall Jacks, famous British author and principal of Manchester College, Oxford University.

Speaking before a dinner in his honor given Monday evening at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel by the Presidents Club of Atlanta, Dr. Jacks recommended a greater interest in recreation, under competent leadership. "Cities in America," he said, should launch and foster movements toward a general community recreation center, at which young men and women would be given an opportunity of learning "how to be happy."

Pointing to the three primary demands of the American declaration of independence—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—the noted English lecturer said that the greatest of these is the last-named, which nowadays comes under the heading of pleasure-seeking.

The physical education of children, the speaker said, is of as great importance as their academic teaching. In this connection, he made it clear that gymnastics and calisthenics were not to be misconstrued as meaning recreation.

"It is impossible," said Dr. Jacks, "to graft a high type of culture onto a low type of physical culture. The true recreation movement intends to educate and train this wild, uncontrolled force represented in the stupid, muddled-headed search for pleasure, and utilize it so that it may produce better results, not only in human values, but make pleasure itself more enjoyable. We are trying to change this pursuit of happiness from a haphazard confusion into something intelligent which will lead to something worth while."

Dr. Jacks is making a tour of America under the auspices of the American Recreation Association.

The lecturer drew a ripple of laughter from his audience when he related a discussion he said he recently had with a leading American financier in Pittsburgh. He asked this man, he said, to enumerate some of the industries least stricken by the trade depression.

"And here is what the American financier said," Dr. Jacks added. "First of all industries in this country least hit by the depression was drugs; the second was candy, and the third was cosmetics."

"The fourth 'easiest hit' industry was cigars; the fifth was low-grade movies and the sixth was bootlegging. And you can believe it or not, but the seventh least hit industry was that of funerals."

The speaker expressed the conviction that if civic leaders would stimulate and direct the center of recreation, the result would be a lessening of crime, vice and disease.

Major J. H. Dimon, of Columbus, said the situation in his city was not acute and local authorities would be able to meet the emergency without outside assistance.

City Manager C. Q. Wright, of Albany, estimated unemployment in his city had increased 50 per cent over 1929, and 150 per cent over 1928. Expenditures for relief purposes have increased approximately 100 per cent over 1929 and 150 per cent over 1928.

From Augusta, Mayor W. D. Jennings reported a total of approximately 1,468 persons were aided by the city in 1929, compared with about 3,200 in 1930. The city, he said, had raised a relief fund of $25,000 from the public at large and unemployment and relief is being provided "as rapidly as can be found."

The report from Brunswick was unsigned, but stated about 100 additional persons in the city will need relief during the current season.

East Thomaston was the only one of the Georgia cities reporting no increase in unemployment. A. A. Hardy, recorder, reported the community was fully able to meet all local requirements for relief.

Another unsigned report, from Manchester city authorities, said 75 to 100 persons would need relief during the winter months. The city was reported to be in position to provide all necessary relief.

Mayor D. Roy Hay, of Thomasville, said: "This community undoubtedly has more unemployment than in many years past, if not ever before, and efforts are being made to handle the situation locally. . . . We realize it would be disastrous to depend on outside help."

"An increase of about 75 per cent in the number of unemployed at Tifton was reported."

Mayor H. P. Brown, of Toccoa, said the increase in unemployment in his city was only about 10 or 15 per cent, but was "growing worse."

In reply to the question as whether federal appropriation should be made for relief purposes, he said: "It seems to me it would be a good move. I do not see how some of the poor families can get through the winter."

WARNING AGAINST WAR SOUNDED BY S. S. WYER

Warning that the next great war would "mean the end of civilization," was sounded by Samuel S. Wyer, of Columbus, Ohio, consulting engineer of the Ohio Foundation for Utilities, Fuel and Transportation, in an address before the luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Traffic Club, held Monday at the Atlanta Athletic Club. At the meeting it was voted that Pat Sheehy and W. J. Fillingim each should serve six months as vice president of the club, following the recent tie elections.

"The idea that a war would end a depression," said Mr. Wyer, "is only propaganda spread by a group of heartless profiteers who would profit by the youth of our country being butchered. The way to curb this is to conscript capital 100 per cent if a war begins, and pay for it as it progresses. That will take some of the enthusiasm out of that group."

ONLY 2 GEORGIA CITIES URGE FEDERAL RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Urging consideration of his bill proposing a federal appropriation of $375,000,000 for unemployment relief throughout the country, Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr., of Wisconsin, today laid before the senate reports from nine Georgia cities touching on unemployment conditions within their borders. The Georgia cities include Albany, Augusta, Brunswick, Columbus, East Thomaston, Manchester, Thomasville, Tifton and Toccoa.

While practically all reported through their mayors or city managers that unemployment had increased during the past year, they expressed confidence in their ability to cope with the problem, and only two, Augusta and Toccoa, went on record in favor of federal aid.

The reports were filed in response to a questionnaire sent out by Senator La Follette late in November, seeking information on employment conditions generally.

Major J. H. Dimon, of Columbus, said the situation in his city was not acute and local authorities would be able to meet the emergency without outside assistance.

City Manager C. Q. Wright, of Albany, estimated unemployment in his city had increased 50 per cent over 1929, and 150 per cent over 1928. Expenditures for relief purposes have increased approximately 100 per cent over 1929 and 150 per cent over 1928.

Druggists Guarantee the New Vick "Colds-Control" Plan

Backed By Makers of Vicks VapoRub in the Confidence That Plan Will Reduce the Number, Severity and Duration of Colds.

TO CUT COSTS OF COLDS

Here is good news to those who catch cold easily. The makers of Vicks VapoRub—family standby in millions of homes—have developed a Plan for better "Control-of-Colds." It is a practical Plan—workable in every home. And so confident are Vicks Chemists that this Plan will reduce the number, severity and duration of colds, that they have authorized every druggist in the United States to make the following guaranteed trial offer:

Your Druggist's Proposition.
Get a bottle of the new Vicks discovery—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops—based on a new idea for "preventing" colds. Use it with Vicks VapoRub—the modern way of "treating" colds—as directed below in the Vicks Plan. Unless you are delighted with results upon him alone the responsibility for enforcing veterinary laws and quarantine regulations, it's up to him to handle the $25,000 fund over which the controversy started.

Talmadge told newspapermen, simultaneously with the announcement of White's appointment, that the federal government, through its representatives here, had advised him it would only recognize the department of agriculture in co-operative work.

White has been a member of the board of veterinary examiners for ten years. He was for seven years with the United States bureau of animal industry. At the time he was named by Talmadge he was engaged in private practice and operated an animal hospital at Tifton.

bill with a long address in which he argued existing relief facilities are wholly inadequate to meet the situation. He denied the bill would establish the dole, contending it did not "meet any of the specifications" of that system.

Pointing to what he called "conservative" estimates that total unemployment ranges from 1,500,000 to 2,500,000, La Follette said an equal number of workers were on part time.

La Follette cited numerous instances where the government had gone to the relief of earthquake, flood, fire and famine sufferers abroad as well as at home, and asked: "Can we afford to indulge in debates over precedents when there is evidence that children in the United States are suffering from starvation? They will be starved unless congress acts."

La Follette presented the results of a survey of conditions in 310 American cities, showing that 305 of them desired federal aid and 215 were opposed.

Shanghai Chinese Watch Sentries, Hatred, Fear Written on Faces

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS.
(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press.)
SHANGHAI, Feb. 2.—(Tuesday.) Groups of Chinese with fear and hatred written on their faces watched Japanese sentries in sullen silence in the streets of the Hongkew section today.

There were other evidences that the district had been transformed from a peaceful quarter to an area where life could not be guaranteed as I went through it.

Plate glass windows in the showroom of the Shanghai Power Company, an American corporation, were smashed. Inside I could see plaster, dislodged by bullets, strewn the floor. On the ground I saw a splash of blood and wondered whether the victim had been shot by a Chinese sniper or a Japanese marine.

On North Szechuan road two live wires hung down from a street car trolley line, threatening death to any unwary person.

The venturesome appearance of

New Tests May Save Baby From Idiotcy

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Further tests to determine whether an operation might save 13-month-old Diane Moore from death or a life of idiotcy as a result of a subnormal brain cavity probably will be made tomorrow, Dr. O. A. Spier said tonight.

The brain specialist said he had not yet seen X-ray pictures of the baby's skull made at the medical center which were reported to have shown an operation would do no good.

MISSISSIPPI DISBARS JACKSON ATTORNEY

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 1.—(UP)—Sam A. Latham, Jackson attorney, had his license revoked and his name stricken from the roll of Mississippi lawyers today by a ruling of the supreme court. The court ordered him disbarred for participation in the $80,000 "Warrentite" scandal.

Latham was charged with attempting "to stir up strife and litigation" and with "purchasing from a former employee of Warren Brothers Road Company, for use as evidence in an action at law, letters and other private papers of Warren Brothers Road Company."

This is the last of the disbarment actions growing out of the case. Carl Marshall, another Mississippi attorney, was disbarred several months ago for participation in the affair.

GLASS' BANKING BILL MEETS OPPOSITION

Measure Sent Back to Subcommittee for Revision.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Senator Carter Glass, democrat, Virginia, struck out today at efforts to revise the federal reserve bank system, suppression of speculation, and federal assistance for bank depositories.

The former treasury secretary and author of the federal reserve act told the United Press the New York federal reserve and the federal reserve board have declined to accept a proposal that hearings on the bill be reopened. Governor George L. Harrison, of the New York bank, and Chairman Eugene Meyer, of the reserve board, objected to allegedly "deflationary" provisions of the bill, thereby delaying its scheduled approval by the senate banking and currency committee and sending it back before a subcommittee for revision.

The banking subcommittee's sessions are executive, but it is understood the revisions now being undertaken will modify the proposals of the Glass bill which would result first in increasing the 15-year federal reserve borrowing rate, and second in requiring national banks to maintain capitalization equal to 15 per cent of their deposit liabilities. The latter provision, it is understood, would require a $800,000,000 aggregate increase in national bank capital, and, some fear, would "deflate" the present credit situation by transferring lots of money from circulation to bank vaults.

The same subcommittee which is now considering the bill drafted the measure and unanimously recommended its passage two weeks ago.

She was placed on the stand by the defense today and told the jury she had an argument with her husband the night of the shooting and that she came to Greensboro to get Holton to return with her to High Point in order to confer with her husband.

INDEPENDENCE URGED IN SOVIET ECONOMICS

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Declaring that the soviet's main problem henceforward is material improvement of the population, Isadore Lubimov, newly appointed commissar of light industry, today told the seventeenth all-union communist conference that light industry must assume first place in the economic scheme. ## DEFINITE COTTON PLAN IS URGED BY BAILEY

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Senator Josiah W. Bailey, democrat, North Carolina, will ask the Finance Reconstruction Corporation for definite proposals for uniform, southwide cotton acreage reduction on a voluntary basis.

Senator Bailey conferred with Governor O. Max Gardner Sunday and afterwards issued a statement saying there was reason to believe "we may succeed in holding between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 bales of cotton off the market for two years."

He added that for the action to serve any good purpose the cotton farmers must reduce their crop by one-half this year and next.

The Sobering-Up Process

Now that we have all passed through it
Or at least ALMOST through it
And are beginning to see some things
With clearer vision...
And are beginning
To take our obligations
MORE seriously
And ourselves
LESS seriously...
A number of things become apparent
Which it is well to consider
If we have any interest
In our condition
One year hence.

You can get more for your money
TODAY
Than at any time
Within the memory
Of the average person.
Take advantage
Of the almost UNBELIEVABLE
Purchasing power of your dollars
And buy the things
That you are really LONGING FOR...
Because the necessity for hoarding money
Will soon pass by
And we will all have
MORE dollars to play with.

Every dollar spent wastefully at present
Is a treasurable dollar.
Every dollar spent for something you need
Helps to put another man to work...
And if there were NO unemployment
We would all have PLENTY of money.
The thawing-out process must start
By the release of money
Spent conservatively in proper channels.
This store, in common with many other
Good stores
Around the country,
Is continually offering
DEPENDABLE, DESIRABLE merchandise
At prices which 3 years ago
Would have CROWDED our floors.
Today, the small amount of interest shown
Would almost indicate
That people had STOPPED
READING ADVERTISING!

Anyone who under the present conditions
Does NOT read advertising
Constantly and thoroughly,
Is like a person
Who has dozens of times driven
For miles on the wrong road
And STILL refuses to read
Direction signs.
Such a man wastes time
No more surely
Than those who do not read advertising NOW
Waste their money
By NOT spending it
To the best advantage.

WATCH THE ADVERTISEMENTS!
IF all the people in Atlanta
Could be made to read
Advertising FIRST
And the accidents and other news
AFTER they have decided
How and where they will wisely
Spend their money,
In three months
Atlanta would never know
There had been a depression.
READ ALL ADVERTISING!
Particularly read DAVISON'S advertising.
You will profit by it
And it will help us
To give you a BETTER store!

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Suffering

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases.

HEM-ROID succeeds because it heats and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Jacobs' drug stores say HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back—(adv.)

RIGDON REOPENS FIGHT AGAINST ALIMONY SUIT

Contents Marriage to Lovie Teel Invalid in Bill of Exceptions.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 1.—(P)—A bill of exceptions for an appeal from a superior court decision awarding Lovie Teel Rigdon alimony from John Rigdon, former University of Georgia football player, who charged she enforced their wedding with a pistol, was filed here today.

Judge C. F. McLaughlin two weeks ago awarded Mrs. Rigdon $15 a month temporary alimony and $50 attorney fees. Her petition for alimony followed the filing of Rigdon's suit for divorce. Rigdon based his suit on the claim that the marriage at Seale, Ala., was invalid because it was performed under duress.

In the bill of exceptions Rigdon's attorneys said the woman's own sworn answer to the divorce petition showed there never had been any valid marriage. They contended the supreme court has ruled that alimony cannot be granted in a case where marriage was obtained by menaces or duress. They asserted such enforcement of a wedding has passed on as valid grounds for divorce.

NOW LOSE FAT A POUND A DAY ON A FULL STOMACH

Do Just These Two Simple Things— Fat Melts Away

Science has made important discoveries in fat reduction. The average fat person can now rip off fat a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week—on a full stomach, with never a hungry moment. This is it! This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad Salts in a glass of water a half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisture-weight instantly. Also cleanses the system of the waste matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloat.

Then do this about eating. FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lot of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute! Cut down on fats, sweets and desserts, bread. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than for years. For in this treatment you achieve two important results. The Jad Salts clear your system of toxins. *The diet takes off fat with food that turns into energy instead of weight.

If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—Jad Salts is urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.—(adv.)

RITCHIE ADVOCATES FEDERAL SURVEY ON JOBLESS AID

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 1.—(P)—A federal survey to determine what states are unable to handle their own relief problems and what form of aid should be extended by the national government was urged today in an address before the Kentucky general assembly by Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland.

"The federal government cannot unclothed or unsheltered," he declared. "It must feed them and clothe them and shelter them, if all other agencies fail and there is no other way."

Speaking of prohibition, Governor Ritchie said, "Our real progress in teaching temperance came when we were leaving the question of prohibition to the states, where it ought to be, and before we put it in the constitution, where, as a matter of sound government, it ought not to be. . . ."

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Disarmament Conference.
At the moment of writing, the disarmament conference in Geneva has not been called off. This conference, we may be certain, will either make or mar 1932. If it fails, the year 1932 will be just as wretched as the year 1931 and probably worse. But if it succeeds, that is to say, if the fantastic commitments resulting from the war and from the treaty of Versailles are rationalized, and if the fantastic weight of armaments with which the European nations have thought it necessary to burden themselves are by agreement substantially reduced, two tremendous obstacles in the way of a general recovery will have been removed.

Only 305 cities, with a total population of 9,714,400, favored the bill of the young Wisconsin senator. While the names of no cities were made public, it is to be presumed that New York was included, as it has furnished some of the strongest backers of the effort to secure federal relief. If so, its approximately 6,000,000 population would reduce the population of these cities to a figure between three and four million.

Replies vigorously opposing federal relief were received by Senator La Follette from 215 cities, with a population of 4,618,011.

With such a division of sentiment in the centers in which the proposed federal aid would be expended, congress should go slow about taking what is tantamount to the first step towards the debt.

The experience of other nations, England especially, has been that, once started, government relief grows with such rapidity as to soon become an octopus squeezing the last dollar out of public treasuries, and bringing about tax rates so high as to amount to practical confiscation.

The United States should not lay itself liable to such raids on its federal treasury until the time comes when there is no other way to care for the unemployed save federal relief.

No such condition exists at this time. The great majority of our cities have, as has Atlanta, raised funds sufficient to prevent acute suffering. That distress and hardship are widespread is not to be disputed, but there is no danger of starvation nor lack of shelter, poor though it may be.

Congress should carefully study the facts presented by both the advocates and opponents of the proposal. If there is either now, or in prospect, acute suffering for which no other aid can be secured, then the government should act, but it should not open the door to the treasury if it is found that those cities favoring the appropriation could care for their unemployed as has been done by so many of their sister municipalities.

WASTED ENERGY.
The amusing avidity with which republican newspapers immediately join in every effort to bolster up democratic candidates brought out in opposition to Franklin D. Roosevelt is illustrated in the manner which they are now putting their shoulders to the wheels of the Garner band wagon.

The Washington correspondent of a dyed-in-the-wool republican newspaper published in Philadelphia is also the national capital correspondent of a widely circulated weekly magazine. In a current political article on the presidential nomination prospects of Speaker John Nance Garner, he says:

Garner will have in the convention the support of the Texas delegation. It will be necessary for the anti-Roosevelt forces to hold that big delegation away from Roosevelt, and it will be necessary also for them at some stage of the proceedings to split Mr. Roosevelt's southern support; his western support cannot be taken away from him.

And then, in something like 200 words, this correspondent pays the Texas speaker of the house a fulsome compliment because he has—in the interest of economy—waived the use of an automobile congress long ago provided for the presiding officer of the lower branch of congress.

Since hundreds of republican office holders are riding the streets of Washington in government-furnished cars—with never a suggestion from any of them that they will follow Mr. Garner's fine example—this writer's somewhat effusive praise of the democratic speaker reveals the extremes to which G. O. P. spokesmen are willing to go in the effort to head off Roosevelt.

Since the nation-wide popularity of the New York governor became apparent, the republican propagandists have never failed to "go to it" whenever they detected a possibility of stirring up opposition to him in the ranks of the democrats. The present enthusiastic back-patting that Speaker Garner is getting—and deserves—from these sources can be ascribed to the same slogan of "Anything to stop Roosevelt."

It is a pity that so much good republican energy must go to waste. They will need it all, and much besides, when the campaign opens up after both parties have made their nominations.

If His Thoughts Are Fixed on Gandhi, He Overlooks the Needy at Home

By Robert Quillen

Before the World War few Americans gave thought to the affairs of other nations. We were a provincial people, content to mind our own business. War propaganda taught us new habits. We heard much about the great heart of America and America's duty to the world. We developed a Messianic complex. We couldn't enjoy a beefsteak for thinking of the starving and downtrodden across the ocean who needed our bounty. Once formed, the habit stuck. Today we are partisans of the bolshevik, Gandhi or the Chinese. We are anti-fascist, anti-Hitler or anti-Franco. Our thoughts, prejudices and compassions are reserved for people at war. We are deeply engrossed in matters that don't concern us and have lost the knack of attending to our own business. Statesmen and citizen, high and low, are enslaved by a mental habit. The affairs of other lands seem all important because we have thought about them too much. Find a citizen quick to defend Gandhi, Mussolini or Hitler and usually you have one who has forgotten to be a good American. You can't serve two masters. If you would save America, free your mind of its slavery to matters that don't concern you.

The first motion picture crank was turned at Seventh and Olive streets, Los Angeles, in 1894. It was a silent picture, and it was called "The Great Train Robbery." It was made by the Knickerbocker building.

Health Talks

By Dr. William Brady

OH, OH, CHILDREN, YOU MUST PAY ATTENTION.
Ladies trying to tell me how delighted they were with the treatment I received from a doctor to whom I referred her for diaphragm extirpation of the tonsils. She describes the doctor as "such a considerate and thoroughly competent physician." She admires the way he handles his work, also the way he handles his patients. Then she says that in all she has read about this modern method of treatment something has been left out. The time it takes ought to be more clearly explained, for she thinks many patients expect to have it all finished in a week of two. No one could fairly draw such an inference from my writings about it. I have explained dozens of times that treatments are given at intervals of a week or more, and as a rule from two to eight treatments are required, in some cases more.

At the same time I believe the patient is detained from his or her work or usual activity a shorter total of time than the diaphragm extirpation, for they would be under the old Spanish treatment.

Right in the same mail comes another letter, from a man who thanks me for some "very interesting and instructive reading." I inflate my bellows and feel pretty good about it, but then the man spoils it by explaining "Recently, thanks to your teachings, I have come to the conclusion that the cure is caused solely by micro-organisms taken in the air (or contaminated water). I have dropped a lot of little worries about drafts and other things."

If the man believes what he says he certifies, through his own teachings, that the air is practically germ-free and that no infectious disease is carried by the air to person by or in the air. I know and teach that even the expired breath of a patient with diphtheria, pneumonia, tuberculosis or other infectious disease, does not contain the virus or germ of the disease and cannot give the disease to another person who may happen to "get the patient's breath."

I relieved only by searchlights at the bottom of the sea in a fruitless search for Japanese bombing planes. ## Utility Regulation Imperilled, Say Commissioners of 3 States

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(AP)—What they termed the "junketing aspect" of the annual conventions held by the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners are criticized by delegates from three states.

Commissioners of California, New York and Wisconsin threatened to withdraw from the association unless steps were taken to make the conventions something more than "pleasant vacations at public expense." In a communication to all members of the association, the commissioners of the three states indicated the recent convention at Richmond, Va., had crystallized their opinion that the common method of conducting the national meetings had "injured public confidence in regulation." Three resolutions intended to correct the situation, they asserted, were introduced at the convention without avail. One of the proposals was to exclude representatives of utility companies, another would provide that the convention be held at resort centers, and the third would end the association's "supervision" of commercial publications devoted to night to Washington by Alvin C. King, acting as governor. King, who arrived here to inspect flood conditions personally, sent a message to President Hoover, stressing the gravity of the situation, and urged that the flood control battle be taken over by the United States corps of engineers.

In his telegram, King said that an appropriation of $250,000 to $300,000 could be made under authority of section seven of the flood control act of 1928, and that no less than that would be sufficient to protect Monroe adequately under existing conditions.

A message to the United States army chief of staff at Washington was sent by General Raymond H. Fleming, head of the Louisiana National Guard, urging that co-operation of army forces be afforded in the crisis.

Telegrams were also sent to Major General Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, and to Senator Huey P. Long and Congressman Riley J. Wilson.

Decision to enlist the aid of federal authorities was reached following the arrival with Mayor Arnold Bernstein and other city and parish officials.

King described north Louisiana flood conditions as approaching a catastrophe. He traveled through the area by boat and visited Calfax, stricken town on the Red river in Grant parish, and Alexandria, La., on the Mississippi river.

Both the Ouachita and the Red river below Shreveport are in new record stages from continued heavy rains. The Black river is backing up, and the Mississippi river is nearly two feet above flood stage at Arkansas City and Vicksburg and just in flood stage at Baton Rouge.

The Tennessee river at Chattanooga is rising slowly, threatening to reach flood stage of 33 feet, inconveniencing lowland residents.

BUDGET REQUIRING PAYLESS HOLIDAYS VOTED BY COUNCIL

meeting so as to act in unison on the matter," he said. "We do not wish to be placed in the attitude of attempting to tell the city how to run its business. All we want to know is that the city will be able to meet its obligations. If the new budget does that, I think it would be the basis on which we could advance monies to the city; if it fails to do that, I am of the opinion that the banks would not approve it."

Adoption of the conference committee's sheet followed a lengthy and bitter fight between proponents of three papers—the conference report submitted by Mayor Pro Tem J. Charles Murphy, a substitute sheet offered by Alderman G. E. Millican and original sheet offered again by Councilman Wells.

Key Votes Set Plan.
Passage of the budget by council was preceded by the filing of Mayor James L. Key's veto of a paper authorizing issuance of scrip to city employees, Alderman Ben T. Huie losing by 17 to 16 a move to hold up the veto until after adoption of a finance sheet.

When reports were called for from the finance committee, Councilman Wells took the floor and again tendered the committee's finance sheet, pointing out that the finance committee had met and asked for constructive suggestions, but that none was offered.

Wells said that at a meeting held by the city's bankers at noon, a desire to help the city when a balanced budget passes council was expressed.

Fight Over Old Sheet.
Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, announced that the conference committee appointed to untangle the city's financial affairs was ready to report, and Councilman Ellis Barrett, of the thirteenth, said that the original finance sheet "is so much water over the dam and is out of order."

Mayor Pro Tem. Murphy ruled the Wells sheet out of order, but on a ruling from City Attorney James L. Mayson allowed the sheet to remain before council. Barrett contended that the sheet must be referred to the finance committee. Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, of the twelfth, lost a motion to consider all finance papers at one time.

Taking the floor for the conference committee's sheet, Mayor Pro Tem. Murphy asserted that his paper would save as much as the original sheet, would not put salary cuts into effect, and would not add a penny to the city's debt.

Amendment Carried.
Councilman Parks Rusk, of the thirteenth, offered an amendment to the conference sheet, asserting that should the city's income be increased over the sum allowed for in the sheet, the increase should be set apart to pay 10 per cent to the board of education, a sufficient sum to pay salaries of employees for vacation periods, and the residue to go into the general treasury. This amendment carried.

Councilman Knight, of the fifth ward, was successful in a move to transfer $29,500 from the Tech appropriation of $32,000 to the public schools, after considerable debate.

Alderman Gilliam declared that "the city has not enough money to go around, and we should use it where it is needed. Let's remember that charity begins at home." Councilman Raleigh Drennon, of the ninth, pointed out that "Tech is an Atlanta institution as much as the city schools are."

He has not Atlanta's name all over the world, and a cut of $29,500 is discriminating too much against it."

White Urges Reduction.
Councilman White said that he believed in Georgia Tech, "but Emory is just as valuable to Atlanta, and there is nothing in the sheet for Emory. I am not in favor of cutting the salaries of city teachers and giving the money to institutions which have not cut salaries but which are maintaining high wage scales. The state of Georgia has not paid us money for years for us to operate our schools."

Alderman James E. Bowden, of the fifth, drew attention to the fact that "the city has given Tech $500,000 for seven years, and Atlanta children pay full tuition there." Rust concluded the argument with the assertion that "one-fourth of the money that supports Tech comes from Atlanta's taxes."

Rusk lost an effort to amend the sheet by transferring $3,800 from the salary and expenses of the secretary of the board of film review to the board of education. His amendment was withdrawn after other members of council vigorously defended the appropriation. Councilman Drennon declared that he could show council where the board had done good by the transfer of certain pictures from the theater. Councilman Huie, of the eighth, said that the board of review appropriation "is absolutely necessary, as council found several years ago when it was cut out and then placed back in the sheet."

Reynolds Defends Board.
Alderman Frank Reynolds, of the eighth, said that the board of review is one of the best features of the city government, and is designed primarily to benefit the school children. Drennon threw in the remark that it has "eliminated the wild west and Jessie James."

Don't Give the National Guard Its Quarters Free?
Gilliam asked Huie.

"Doesn't the national guard have space in the auditorium?"

"Yes, it does."

"Does the national guard pay any rent?" Gilliam pursued.

"No," Huie answered. "Not a dime."

Gilliam declared, in reference to the guard's appropriation, that "we need the money so much worse for things that come closer home."

Huie said that the guard's appropriation "is a legal one and the 1928 is an Atlanta institution."

On a vote the amendment to transfer the appropriation of $400 back to the auditorium operating supplies fund lost by a vote of 17 to 12, thus leaving the $400 in the national guard fund.

Widow's Fund Transferred.
Alderman Millican obtained a 17-to-15 vote adopting an amendment transferring from the conference committee's sheet $300 provided for Mrs. Mary E. Phillips, widow of a city employee. The amendment put the money into the fund of the Family Welfare Society.

An amendment sponsored by Councilman Drennon, cutting the members of general council 10 per cent for the rest of the year, was withdrawn when Alderman White explained that the cut in council pay was taken care of in the sheet. Alderman Gilliam offered an amendment reducing salaries of members from $50 to $25 a month, the saving to go to the schools. Councilman Joseph E. Bernier, of the fourth, declared the amendment out of order because "salaries of councilmen and aldermen are fixed by the legislature."

"We can fix our salaries to suit ourselves, and the legislature cannot fix ours for that," Gilliam replied.

Alderman Alvin T. Richards, of the eighth, declared the amendment out of order, and his ruling was sustained by a vote of council.

Let's Get Rid of All These Foolish Motions, and Get Down to Business.
Let's adopt or reject the sheet," Alderman J. C. Aldridge, of the seventh, challenged council.

Millican Hits New Sheet.
Alderman Millican, speaking in behalf of his substitute sheet, which would have provided that all employees contribute 10 per cent of their salaries, termed the conference committee's sheet "ridiculous, as it contains $312,000, representing anticipated taxes, which cannot be collected." The same sort of an appropriation was made last year to the schools, with the result that the city went deeper into debt, Millican said.

"We have got to have 100 more policemen before we have enough to police this city properly," Millican said. "And now you propose to say, 'Let one-tenth of our policemen off every day.' The fire department last year was 13 men short, and there has been an effort under way to provide for the 13 needed men. The sanitary department, without sufficient men, is working on its men's time, and we can let off men in that department only by hiring others to take their places, because we can't afford to let any of the routes go."

Vacation Plan Criticized.
"The superintendent of Battle Hill sanitarium last year took one week vacation, his first in 11 years. There are seven nurses to 200 tubercular patients at Battle Hill," Millican said. "How can we lay off anybody there on any vacation?"

Millican continued his argument with the point that in one section of Atlanta a policeman has miles of territory to cover.

"In the northwest part of Atlanta, two men have 55 miles to patrol, and they are supposed to cover that beat once every hour," Councilman Turner Leach advised Millican.

Millican charged that the taxpayers

2 States Prepare To Fight For Martin; Probe Delayed

As Michigan and Georgia officials prepared Monday to fight it out for the custody of Jack Martin, and with Leland Harvey waiting to find out what charges will be preferred against him by Detroit officers, Georgia's prison commission Monday postponed, for at least a week, an official investigation into the circumstances of two breaks, within 72 hours of each other, which freed, temporarily at least, Martin, Harvey, and Roy Gardner.

Back in his office Monday morning after a visit to the prison at Milledgeville, Ga., Rayney, chairman of the prison commission, announced that the death cell from which Martin and Harvey escaped, had been broken into by the prison guard, acting as warden of the main prison at the time of both breaks, had been made permanent warden.

Requisition will be sought from Governor Russell this week, Judge Rayney said, for the return of both Martin and Harvey, although no move to get them back into the prison has been determined whether Michigan authorities will waive their claim on Martin.

Martin pleaded guilty in Detroit Monday to two charges of burglary and Michigan officials were tentative in planning to ask that he be sentenced under a special statute which provides that he will get 10 per cent less service of the conference committee's sheet. That's the only way it can be interpreted. The council members proposing that are running with those who they think can get the most votes next election.

Councilman Barrett jumped to his feet. "I don't care a tinker's tinker—oh, well, I vote my convictions, and am not trying to play politics on this sheet."

"There will be nothing passed on to the taxpayers in this conference sheet," Millican resumed. "There won't be until the taxpayers say that they won't pay taxes any longer, and then council will get busy and give them some service."

Cuts for All Urged.
"There are some departments in this city government which could be rid of 20 per cent of their employees and still give service to the taxpayers. These are departments where there are relatives of those in power, nieces and nephews of councilmen. Let's not cut forces of the departments which need their present man power and more to serve the taxpayers adequately, and let these other departments keep their political machines sailing on," Millican said.

"There is no use fooling ourselves about the police department and Grady hospital, but there is a surplus of employees in the business administration of the schools. I vote for a sheet that will give the taxpayers the same reasonable service they have been getting and which they expect," Millican said. "It will be impossible for the police and fire departments to function if the men take three days off a month."

"Why have you not cut some jobs?" Councilman White asked Millican. "You are on nearly every committee of council."

"I helped to cut some employees off," Millican responded.

Same Service Assured.
Councilman Leach, chairman of the sanitary committee, said that no matter what is done to their salaries, employees of the sanitary department "will give the same service they have been giving."

Councilman White, taking the floor, said that Millican was "making a mistake, as all of my personal property and real estate, so, you can't hit me."

Adjournment Move Lost.
Councilman E. T. Dodd, of the fifth, moved for adjournment until 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, but lost. Votes were taken on the finance sheets, Millican's losing by a viva voce vote, and the conference committee's sheet passing, 17 to 8, barring further action on the original finance sheet offered by the finance committee.

Council's vote on the conference sheet was as follows:
Yeas—Leach, Weaver, Almand, Bridges, White, Bernier, Dodd, Knight, Barnwell, Marler, Drennon, Foster, Spratt, Lyle, Johnson, Barrett and Rusk. Nays—Breitenbuecher, Sims, Owen, Rogers, Wells, Beck, Smith and Kantin.

The aldermanic board voted as follows:
Yeas—Murphy, Scott, Huie, Mitchell, Bowden, Aldridge, Reynolds, Seawright and Richards. Nays—Millican and Gilliam.

Wells Warns Council.
As the vote was being taken in council, Councilman Wells warned: "If this conference sheet passes, the city employees will not get their money."

Mayor Key's veto on the resolution requesting the police department to enforce the Sunday movie was filed by council, after a statement that in police court the charity movie sponsored by the women's sewing room of the unemployment relief committee had been upheld.

On the motion of Councilman J. Frank Beck, of the 8th, council voted to join Washington and Lee University and Atlanta civic clubs in inviting Newton D. Baker to deliver an address on George Washington's 200th birthday.

Council took from the table and passed, 20 to 12, a resolution authorizing the mayor to enter into an agreement with the N. C. & St. L. railway for the building of a pier to support the proposed new Whitehall street viaduct. Award of the contract for the new bridge has been held up in council.

Animal Plant Leased.
The dead animal disposal plant was leased to the Atlanta Tallow Company for $20 a month on recommendation of the sanitary committee of council.

Barrett re-offered a resolution re-establishing a clerk for the marshal's office and one for the tax assessors, and asked that it be sent to the tax committee for consideration. It was so directed.

Resolutions of condolence were passed unanimously and will be sent to Councilman Raymond Curtis, of the tenth ward, on the death Sunday of his brother, J. M. Curtis. Alderman Murphy presented the resolutions.

A 10-mile-an-hour zone was established by councilman ordinance along Boulevard from the intersection of Boulevard to Morningside drive. One hour parking from 7 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night was established on Peachtree street from Pine to Linden and on South Pryor street from Fair to Fair streets. These recommendations were made by Councilman Barrett, as chairman of the traffic committee of council.

On motion of Councilman Leach, a traffic control light was ordered set up at Hunter and Ashby streets and another at Hunter, Butler and Fraser streets. The latter ordinance was sponsored by Alderman Huie.

Fish-Peddling Barred.
Peddling of fresh fish and sea foods on Atlanta streets was barred through an ordinance passing council. The measure was offered by Councilman George E. Lyle, of the eleventh ward, who cited the danger of such house-to-house peddling of such perishable foods.

Council and the aldermanic board by decisive majorities directed department heads to insert legal advertising for the month of February in The Constitution, but the resolution was held up in the aldermanic board when notice of reconsideration was given. Council also passed a resolution by a vote of 15 to 7 directing that March insertions be given The Constitution, but this, too, was held up by service of motion to reconsider.

COMMITTEE TO LAUNCH DRIVE FOR TAX DODGERS.
Councilman Claude L. Barnwell, chairman, and members of the tax committee of council Monday afternoon were authorized to inaugurate an intensive drive to place about 20,000 tax dodgers on the city digest.

partment "will give the same service they have been giving."

Councilman White, taking the floor, said that Millican was "making a mistake, as all of my personal property and real estate, so, you can't hit me."

Now, about this getting out of surplus employees. They broke down the playground system, which was the finest in our country," White said. "There would be more revenue for the city if it were not for some of you. I am ready to retrench."

Councilman Barrett, speaking for the conference sheet, said that "this is the best we could do with only two hours' study. Don't quibble over sardines when there is a whole swimming around."

Hits Welfare Society.
Councilman J. W. Weaver, of the second ward, frankly admitted that "I cannot make out a finance sheet. So I have consulted with men and councilmen who can. It's folly to put Atlanta into bankruptcy and hold up the hands of other institutions holding for money."

"If the Family Welfare Society goes broke, let 'em. There are hundreds right here (pointing to the audience) who have been unable to get anything out of the Family Welfare Society," Weaver charged.

Weaver expressed a desire for the sheet to go over until it can be studied by council. The city could get $8,000 by enforcing the code, but reference to the dog wagon, and it could get another $60,000 by enforcing the maximum tax on gasoline stations."

Alderman Millican charged that "there are some members of council whose automobiles are not on the tax books."

Councilman White, taking exception to this remark, said, "my car is on the city books, and all of my personal property and real estate, so, you can't hit me."

Adjournment Move Lost.
Councilman E. T. Dodd, of the fifth, moved for adjournment until 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, but lost. Votes were taken on the finance sheets, Millican's losing by a viva voce vote, and the conference committee's sheet passing, 17 to 8, barring further action on the original finance sheet offered by the finance committee.

Council's vote on the conference sheet was as follows:
Yeas—Leach, Weaver, Almand, Bridges, White, Bernier, Dodd, Knight, Barnwell, Marler, Drennon, Foster, Spratt, Lyle, Johnson, Barrett and Rusk. Nays—Breitenbuecher, Sims, Owen, Rogers, Wells, Beck, Smith and Kantin.

The aldermanic board voted as follows:
Yeas—Murphy, Scott, Huie, Mitchell, Bowden, Aldridge, Reynolds, Seawright and Richards. Nays—Millican and Gilliam.

Wells Warns Council.
As the vote was being taken in council, Councilman Wells warned: "If this conference sheet passes, the city employees will not get their money."

Mayor Key's veto on the resolution requesting the police department to enforce the Sunday movie was filed by council, after a statement that in police court the charity movie sponsored by the women's sewing room of the unemployment relief committee had been upheld.

On the motion of Councilman J. Frank Beck, of the 8th, council voted to join Washington and Lee University and Atlanta civic clubs in inviting Newton D. Baker to deliver an address on George Washington's 200th birthday.

Council took from the table and passed, 20 to 12, a resolution authorizing the mayor to enter into an agreement with the N. C. & St. L. railway for the building of a pier to support the proposed new Whitehall street viaduct. Award of the contract for the new bridge has been held up in council.

Animal Plant Leased.
The dead animal disposal plant was leased to the Atlanta Tallow Company for $20 a month on recommendation of the sanitary committee of council.

Barrett re-offered a resolution re-establishing a clerk for the marshal's office and one for the tax assessors, and asked that it be sent to the tax committee for consideration. It was so directed.

Resolutions of condolence were passed unanimously and will be sent to Councilman Raymond Curtis, of the tenth ward, on the death Sunday of his brother, J. M. Curtis. Alderman Murphy presented the resolutions.

A 10-mile-an-hour zone was established by councilman ordinance along Boulevard from the intersection of Boulevard to Morningside drive. One hour parking from 7 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night was established on Peachtree street from Pine to Linden and on South Pryor street from Fair to Fair streets. These recommendations were made by Councilman Barrett, as chairman of the traffic committee of council.

On motion of Councilman Leach, a traffic control light was ordered set up at Hunter and Ashby streets and another at Hunter, Butler and Fraser streets. The latter ordinance was sponsored by Alderman Huie.

Fish-Peddling Barred.
Peddling of fresh fish and sea foods on Atlanta streets was barred through an ordinance passing council. The measure was offered by Councilman George E. Lyle, of the eleventh ward, who cited the danger of such house-to-house peddling of such perishable foods.

Council and the aldermanic board by decisive majorities directed department heads to insert legal advertising for the month of February in The Constitution, but the resolution was held up in the aldermanic board when notice of reconsideration was given. Council also passed a resolution by a vote of 15 to 7 directing that March insertions be given The Constitution, but this, too, was held up by service of motion to reconsider.

COMMITTEE TO LAUNCH DRIVE FOR TAX DODGERS.
Councilman Claude L. Barnwell, chairman, and members of the tax committee of council Monday afternoon were authorized to inaugurate an intensive drive to place about 20,000 tax dodgers on the city digest.

and at the same time gave the committee a free reign in a drive to collect about $150,000 in taxes on the 14,215 ft. fas. against similar errands last year.

Barrett presented the proposals asserting that about 6,000 dollars last year paid approximately $75,000 into the treasury. It is estimated that the 14,000 yet uncollected will push the aggregate to $225,000.

On objection of Barnwell and others a proposal by Councilman Rusk to permit J. Ben Daniel, city marshal, to contract with outsiders to do the work instead of leaving it to the tax committee, was killed.

Top Flight Installed Kentucky Derby Favorite in Winter Books

CRACKERS PLAN TO SIGN CLIFFORD M'GAUGHNEY

WHITNEY RACER MADE FAVORITE IN WINTER BOOK

Most Promising of Three-Year-Olds for Next Kentucky Derby.

By Thomas H. Noone,
United Press Racing Editor.
NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Top Flight, C. V. Whitney's champion filly, has been definitely installed favorite in the winter books for the 58th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs May 7, according to quotations given the United Press today by the two foremost commissioners in the business.

Tom Shaw, of New York, who represented the east in pre-derby price-making, and Tom Kearney, of St. Louis, outstanding authority in the west, agree that the undisputed champion of 1931 is the most promising 3-year-old on the horizon.

Notwithstanding the fact that nominations for the blue grass classic do not close until Wednesday, February 3, Shaw is holding the daughter of Sir Donatista at 8 to 1 and Kearney has placed a figure of only 6 to 1 against her.

While there is a difference of two points in their respective prices, Shaw and Kearney feel that no longer quotations are warranted at this time because of Top Flight's sensational performance in her juvenile year, when she won all of her seven starts to set a new money-winning record for 2-year-olds at $210,000.

Mrs. L. G. Kaufman's Tick On, winner of last year's Hopeful stakes, is second choice in both lists, Shaw quoting the On Watch colt at 12 to 1, while Kearney holds him four points less.

One of the several aspirants for western championship honors, Burning Blaze, is the third choice of these astute judges of horseflesh. Kearney considers the Big Blaze offspring a 10-to-1 chance, while Shaw is willing to play 15 to 1 against him.

The following table shows the odds each commissioner quotes on the leading candidates:

Horse	Shaw	Kearney
Top Flight	8 to 1	6 to 1
Tick On	12 to 1	8 to 1
Burning Blaze	15 to 1	10 to 1
Lucky Tom	20 to 1	12 to 1
Superior Light	20 to 1	15 to 1
Universal	20 to 1	15 to 1
Burgess King	40 to 1	20 to 1
Bygo	40 to 1	20 to 1

BILLIARD MEET STARTS TODAY

Play in the third annual three-cushion billiard tournament for the southern championship will start at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Elks Club on Peachtree street, with four matches on the opening program. Another afternoon match will start at 4 o'clock and two night games will start at 7 and 9 o'clock.

Drawings for the tournament will be made at 1:30 o'clock at the club, and the four seeded players will meet four other players in the opening day's play.

All games, both in the afternoon and at night, will be free to the public, and ample seating room has been provided for the spectators. Ladies particularly are invited to attend.

Harry N. Purdy, Atlanta, is the defending champion and will play in one of the night games. He is vice president of the Amateur Billiard Association of America, under whose supervision the southern tourney will be played. Purdy will be in charge of the first day's play.

G. Raymond Collins, of Chicago, secretary of the Amateur Billiard Association, is en route here from California and will be the referee in charge after Wednesday. He is expected to arrive late Tuesday or early Wednesday morning.

It will be a round robin affair and seven players are expected to participate. Should more than that number file entries the event will be extended through next week.

According to present plans, four matches will be played each day through the remainder of the week with two games in the afternoon and two more at night.

Stars expected to seek Purdy's crown are Tommy Johnson, Chattanooga, runner-up last year; George Bruner, Birmingham; Frank Moore, Chattanooga; and Paul Lovejoy and "Red" Williamson, Atlanta. Several new stars who have never participated in a southern tourney are expected to enter today.

The winner of the southern championship will receive a large silver trophy and will be given a trip to the national championship, scheduled for the early fall.

Dizzy Dean Says Cards Will Repeat

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., Feb. 1.—(UP)—If you take Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean's word for it, the St. Louis Cardinals are headed for another championship season.

The Cardinals' hurler, here for a few days' rest before going into spring training, promised today to win 20 games by himself.

"I'll win 20 games for Gabby Street this coming season," Dean said shortly after he arrived from St. Louis, where he renewed his contract with the Cardinals for the coming season.

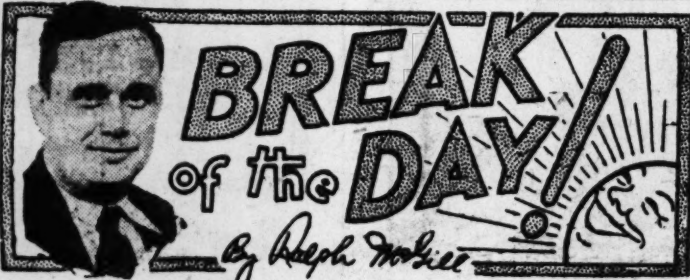

"We'll have another championship team, too," said "Dizzy."

While in St. Louis Dizzy underwent a minor operation. He plans to remain at his home here until February 26, when he will leave for Bradenton, Fla., Cardinal training camp.

BREAK of the DAY

Mr. William Alexander, the Man at the Flats, is most emphatically NOT a chiseler. Yet the visit Monday of Tad Gormley with his two Loyola Olympic candidates, brought out a story of a day when he and Coach Alexander were right handy with chisels.

Some years ago the Tech track teams were rather scanty, about as scant in numbers as the track uniform is in material.

George Griffin, present assistant dean of men at Tech, was the sprinter on the Tech squad and Coach Alexander took him to the meet at Baton Rouge, Gormley then being coach there.

"The day was cold and snowy," said Coach Alexander, "and the track was frozen solid. They didn't have nice cinder tracks then. Gormley and I each had a chisel. We'd get down and chisel out the starting holes and then call the runners."

"Gormley had a great sprinter named Jenkins, a record holder. They got down in the holes and just before the gun sounded Griffin, who was nervous, jumped the shot. Jenkins followed."

"Gormley and I looked at each other. We got down on our knees and chiseled out four more starting holes. Then we lined up the two runners and again Griffin beat the gun and was followed by Jenkins."

"Gormley and I got out our chisels and started in again. Gormley was plenty mad about it all. He looked at me and he looked at Griffin. Then he looked at Jenkins. Both runners were shivering in the cold."

"What are you trying to do, ruin a good track man?" asked Gormley indignantly as he looked at the shivering star.

"So, we got our chisels out and got them some more holes and finally had the race run off. I guess it was the only time track coaches had to use chisels."

N. Y. U. CONSIDERS SCHEDULE REVISION.
A possible revision of the New York University football program is in prospect. The contract with the University of Georgia may or may not be affected. No indication has come from Jake Cann, the new athletic director, other than that a revision is in prospect.

Cann succeeded Chick Meehan as head coach and athletic director. His policy is to be one of de-emphasis, especially with regard to football.

With that policy announced the New York University officials are already running into trouble. The Yankee stadium, where the Violet teams have played for the past few years, may not be available. The stadium officials are saying that with the program of de-emphasis being what it is very few people indeed may come to the Violet games next fall. And the stadium people like those percentages, as who doesn't?

In fact, the Yankee stadium people are looking toward Manhattan College, where Chick Meehan has gone, and may deal with the smaller colleges. The idea being that if Chick Meehan brought big crowds to see his teams play at one place he can do it at another.

The N. Y. U. experiment will be watched with interest. It is possible that Jake Cann may not go in for de-emphasis as much as expected. He may like a winning team, too.

TECH'S BASKETBALL TEAM.
Tech's basketball team is pretty sure to be a factor in the Southern conference tournament here the latter part of this month.

It would be very encouraging to find either Tech or Georgia winning the championship. Both are very much in the same situation as the young lady who was often a bridesmaid, but never a bride. The Jackets and Bulldogs annually make the tournament a success by sticking in long enough to draw the "money" crowds. The Bulldogs, once Moran and Pound return to the lineup.

BANNER SEASON SEEN FOR PEPPER

Breadon Feels Sure Martin Will Deliver; Wilson Signs Papers.

By Alan Gould,
Associated Press Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(UP)—The folks who thought they saw Pepper Martin's race career ending in a crash at the hands of the Cardinals, did not exactly put it that way. Sam likes the Ozark country, but he speaks the king's English.

"We really take the wraps off Martin this year and let him go. After all, he was just a rookie last season or two, and checked over to keep him under some restraint. But he showed what he could do when we beat the Athletics, and he will go like a house on fire this year."

"Gaby will give him every chance to run the bases, and it would not surprise me to see Pepper lead the league in stealing. He's a great ball player and a great fielder."

You can't talk long with Breadon without catching his enthusiasm for the far-flung and exceedingly effective Cardinal "chase-around" system. After you've heard the details, listened to how this or that youngster is destined to be among the greatest in a year or two, and checked over the existing situation, it is difficult to see anything but a long and prosperous flight for the Redbirds, now on top of the baseball roost.

"You know a lot about this Dixie Dean," remarked Sam, "and there's no mistake in it. He is bound to make good."

"But they tell me our other youngsters from Houston, Tex. Carleton, is liable to be just as good a pitcher. We have another coming along in AA company now, who should be better than any pitcher we have now."

"We get them young, teach them properly and develop them gradually. By a progressive process our various clubs, each prospective star is checked and double-checked for any weaknesses. When he is ready for the Cardinals, we know all about him. We don't have to guess or gamble, because we have the records and all the evidence."

"That's the main difference in, and the advantage of, our system, as compared with the procedure of paying a high price for a minor league star on the recommendation of one or two scouts."

Wilson Signs Brooklyn Contract.
NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Lewis Robert (Hack) Wilson, late of the Cubs and for a short time of the Cardinals, today signed a contract to play this year. He recently was sold to Brooklyn by St. Louis for $50,000, of which $40,000 was cash.

President Frank T. in announcing the signing of Wilson, did not divulge the terms of the contract or its duration, but said it was a straight contract with no bonus clause attached, as had been rumored.

The guess has been that the paper calls for $15,000 and runs for one year only. Hack received $33,000, minus fines, from Chicago last year.

Babe Ruth Leaves For Yankee Camp.
NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Babe Ruth and Mrs. Ruth left by automobile today for St. Petersburg, Fla., where Babe will get in some preliminary training before the opening of the Yankees' spring camp late this month.

They expected to make the trip in easy stages, or as easy as the Babe's penchant for speed will allow, arriving in St. Petersburg Friday or Saturday.

Eddie Flynn Prefers Dental Chair to Ring

Wants Olympic Crown First; Will Turn Pro Only To Get Money To Begin Practice.

By Jimmy Jones.
Considering that our modern pugilistic men insist on being mercenary to a fault, it is decidedly heartening to meet up with a chap like Eddie Flynn, the college boxer from gay old New Orleans.

If there is anything more refreshing than a sea breeze on a sweltering day it is an insight into Eddie Flynn's private life and his private ambition. Now that he is recognized as the kingpin of the nation's amateur welterweight, Eddie is in an ideal spot to step right over the traces into the professional game and make himself a lot of cash.

He could use the cash, for Eddie is a married man and the father of a child. The chance is his, for managers and promoters are always on his trail, and only last week the neat sum of $5,000 was dangled in front of him like so much forbidden fruit if he would turn pro.

But Eddie's ambition lies not in the business of knocking the ears of other pugilists for the shekels it will earn him. He wants to become the Olympic welterweight champion and then, if he can get together enough dough, he will open a palatial dentist's office in his home town with up-to-date fixtures. He would be Dr. Edward Flynn, then and no longer Eddie Flynn.

It may be that after Eddie has won the coveted Olympic crown, he may have turned pro and gone to get himself enough cash to set up his dentist's office. That will take care of it.

Right now, Eddie Flynn is busying himself studying dentistry at Loyola University and between times, keeping in trim to fight with his fists for Uncle Sam's boxing team in the approaching Olympics.

Yesterday Flynn visited Atlanta, en route to New York, where he will take part in Jimmy Walker's annual battle to keep it when he was charged with having fought as a pro in Florida. He is 24 years old, but doesn't look it.

Yesterday the New Orleans boy boxed two rounds with Elmo Freyer, Mike Chambers' classy welter, and with Quint Adair, a light-heavy. Flynn displayed the lightning left hand for which he is famous. Once he caught Quint with it and he was using his gloves. He boxed like a master.

Both Gormley and Flynn praised Ted's boxing. Flynn said Freyer was the first man to hit him with an uppercut in two years. Gormley said Chambers had taught his boys a good two-handed attack and that Ted's boxers would "take" those of the average southern college team.

MUST REDUCE.
Flynn, it was revealed, weighs 152 pounds and must get down to 147 for the welter limit before the tryouts. He figures the workout here will help.

Flynn and Freyer will meet again in the Olympic trials. While Tech does not permit dual meets, Coach Alexander will enter Freyer and some of the other good boys in the Southeastern A. A. U. tourney.

PROUD OF STATUS.
Eddie Flynn is proud of his amateur status. Only recently he won a battle to keep it when he was charged with having fought as a pro in Florida. He is 24 years old, but doesn't look it.

Ranked as one of the southern conference's good teams on early season form, the Bulldogs yet have a chance to pull themselves a bit nearer the top. The Clemson game and a return engagement with Georgia Tech here Saturday night will give the Bulldogs their needed chance.

Players making the trip to Clemson are: Costa, Terrell, Morris and Slaughter, forwards; Strickland and Fleming, centers; Captain Smith, Young, Johnson, Webb, O'Keller, Simmons and Chandler, guards.

The Georgia freshmen team will accompany the Bulldogs and play a preliminary game with the Clemson yearlings.

Jacket Grid Work Begins in March.
Coach W. A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech, yesterday declared that he had decided to abide by March 1, as the opening date for spring football training at the Flata.

"In view of our late season last fall I believe the boys should be allowed more time on their studies," he explained. Reports that he would have linenmen out earlier were denied.

GEORGIA OPENS SPRING DRILLS

Sixty Candidates Turn Out Monday; Old Familiar Faces Missing.

By Al Smith.
ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 1.—Sixty (by actual count) eager, ambitious and brawny young men, clad in football uniforms of various hues and aged, raced down to Sanford field this afternoon for the opening of a month's spring training that will see Harry Mehre's squad on its way to the development it must have before beginning another hazardous football schedule next October.

Greeted by a nipping wind that spelled cold weather in capital letters, freshmen, sophomores and juniors rubbed elbows in the democratic spirit of football. Young huskies with a bit of surplus avoirdupois around the hips perspired copiously for an hour or so and seemed to enjoy it very much, indeed. Some of the lean lads, already in fine condition, were like a bunch of three-year-olds waiting for the barrier to fall.

Harry Mehre and all his assistants worked for an hour with the youngsters, who are very eager to learn. Fifteen minutes of calisthenics were followed by three-quarters of an hour on the well-known fundamental drill. Then Coach Harry initiated the candidates into a couple of Bulldog plays and let them run signals for a time. That was all for the first day. The same order will probably be followed for the remainder of the week.

It did not look like the Georgia Bulldogs were more practiced today, at least it didn't appear to be. They have been coming out for practice these last few days. Tiger and Red came down a little after practice had begun to help Ted Twomey with the guards, Jack Roberts and Bobby Rose put in an appearance a bit later, clad in civvies. Others of the 12 graduating are expected to come later, as soon as they can get over the idea of not playing football again.

Plenty of candidates for every position were on hand today. Some of them had had experience, but the great majority had never been out for the varsity. This week will be spent in teaching the rudiments of the various positions. Next week the actual work begins, when the boys have got into good condition after the lay-off.

TULANE BEATEN.
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 1.—(UP)—University of Mississippi's basketball team took an early lead and kept it to win, 32 to 43, over Tulane's five tonight in the first of a two-game series here.

Simpson, center, and Swor, forward, led the visitors' fast-scoring attack.

Miss Wright entered the game as a substitute and ran a total of 18 points. Brown, with six points, led today's North Fulton.

Mercer Defeats Howard, 51-33.
MACON, Ga., Feb. 1.—(UP)—In a wild and humorous game here tonight Mercer defeated Howard, of Birmingham, 51 to 33. Mercer second-stringers played nearly half of the game.

GEORGIA STAR IS CONSIDERING ATLANTA OFFER

Brooklyn To Lift Macon Lease; Good Favored for Manager.

By Jimmy Jones.
Cliff McGaughey, Atlanta boy and former star shortstop of the University of Georgia, is contemplating signing a contract with the Atlanta Crackers, so it was learned Monday.

McGaughey, who played basketball and baseball at Boys' High and later at Georgia, was among the leading hitters in the Dixie college baseball league last spring, and is considered a bright prospect.

A friend of McGaughey's, who asked that his name not be used, stated that Cliff had been offered a very attractive proposition by the Atlanta club and that he was just about ready to sign.

Smithies Face Purples on Henry Grady Court This Afternoon

GREAT BATTLE SEEN AS RIVALS OPEN COURT WAR

Game Determines Winner of First Half of Big Six Race

By Roy White.

Tech High and Boys' High will renew their athletic war at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the Henry Grady court, when the two meet to decide the winner of the first half of the Big Six basketball schedule. A double-header will be played and the varsity teams will open the activities in the first game.

The veteran prep rivals are tied for leadership of the league with three victories and no defeats. Tech High's reserves lead the B league with three victories and no losses, while Boys' High, in third place, is out to spoil the clean slate of their rivals.

Atlanta's prep teams are not alone in waging important battles today, for down at Monroe, Ga., Red Barron's Aggies will be hosts to Wallace Butts and his Madison Aggies in another double-header of the Big Six. Neither Monroe nor Madison has won a league game victory, so the winner today will enjoy at least a temporary vacation from the cellar position.

FIRST '32 MEETING.

Particular interest will be centered about the Tech High-Boys' High game. It is the first meeting of the year between the two and should be a battle well worth seeing.

Tech High has not forgotten that 13-to-0 football defeat last fall which started the Smithies on the rocky road to disaster.

Boys' High, on the other hand, cherishes that two-touchdown victory over Tech High, but the memory of a later 1-to-0 forfeit to the Smithies is paramount in the minds of the Purples at present.

Both teams have vengeance in their systems, and the basketball game today seems a logical outlet.

Two distinct types of teams will face each other at the start. Tech High has an inexperienced bunch of lanky players, while Boys' High depends entirely on speed and accuracy.

RESERVES FACTOR.

Should any of the regulars be taken from the game, Tech High's chances will be materially weakened, while Boys' High has any number of capable reserves that can carry on at any time.

Pittman, Smithie forward, has scored 60 points, while the Purple's highest scorer is Ezell, with 46 points. Stacy, at center for Boys' High, is third of the two team members with 45, and Perkins, of Tech High, is next with 44.

Boys' High's lineup will be Ezell and Appleby, forwards; Stacy, center, and Levin and Hays, guards, while Tech High will start with Perkins and Pittman, forwards; Copeland, center, and Scott and Eaves, guards.

DATES FOR N.G.I.C. TOURNAMENT SLATED

The Atlanta Athletic Club court was selected for the scene of the 1932 North Georgia Interscholastic conference basketball tournament and Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 18, 19 and 20, were selected as the dates, at a meeting of the conference Monday afternoon at the club.

Members of the conference voted to sponsor the meet and share the profits or losses, as the case may be.

The constitution and by-laws of the conference were amended and Gainesville High was admitted to membership. Their application had been on file for some time.

Joe Bean, president of the conference, appointed a committee of L. L. Boone, of University, chairman; E. P. McIlwain, of Fulton, and T. G. DuLin, of Griffin, to handle all details.

In a preliminary round of play, a game between two girls' teams will be played as an added attraction. Decatur will be one of the girls' teams. A motion picture was introduced and passed, awarding the tournament to Gainesville, in the event the court at the Athletic Club cannot be secured on the prescribed dates.

A check of the members revealed that Griffin, R. E. Lee, of Thomas, and Newnan will not be able to participate, due to conflicting district tournament dates, but with Gainesville admitted, there will be eight teams to compete. They are Marietta, Russell, Fulton, Commercial, University, Marietta, Decatur and Gainesville.

Young Harry Wills Boasts K. O. Punch

Young Harry Wills, New York, who meets Lou Hardwick, Atlanta, in one of two 10-round feature bouts on the boxing card to be presented Friday night in the City Auditorium by Promoter Cleve Roby, has won his last five fights by knockouts.

The other 10-round match will feature Kid LaGula, Porto Rico, against Battling McCoy, Philadelphia.

Hardwick will be making his first appearance in an Atlanta ring since returning from a tour of eastern rings. He is in good shape, and expects to win by a knockout.

There will be a semi-final bout of eight rounds between Sid Wheeler and Battling Cornell, Wheeler, one of Atlanta's better heavyweights, has recently added four knockouts to his long string.

The out-of-town boxers on the card began arriving in town yesterday. Daily workouts in preparation for the card are being held in Sartain's new gymnasium on Alabama street. The public is invited to these workouts.

Popular prices have been announced for the program, and ladies will be admitted free with escorts.

There will be 34 rounds of battling altogether, and Young Billy Wheeler and Bob Hunter, Atlanta boys, will meet in one preliminary. A battle royal will open the show.

THE PORT-LIGHT

By Frankland Rice

The World Series ended only a few weeks ago and within two weeks the advance guard of baseball will be on its way to the sun, again. And by the time you turn around twice Pepper Martin will be trying to break up another World Series, using his bat and feet for this purpose.

By Ski and Skate.

The Norwegians and the Finns came close enough to dominating the first two Olympic winter games and, as far as ski and skate may take one, the same two countries will be hard to check at Lake Placid through the next 10 days.

The Finns are supposed to have carry away most of the skiing glory and Finland's skaters still have the winning margin in most of the skating events, although none of them adopt Nurm's old system of skimming along with a stop watch. Norway expects to crowd in on the figure skating with Sonja Henie, who seems to be the surest winner the games can show in advance.

The recent drop in temperature has been a big help after the warmest January in the history of the weather bureau. If this weather had continued Leonard Seppala's Siberian huskies would have melted. As it is, the old-timer has a good chance despite the fact that he is a little man over 50 years old and a dog-sled race is not the easiest competition in the world to face. It takes almost as much stamina as a marathon run.

The Finns are supposed to have the advantage on skates because they spend so much time traveling in this fashion. This applies especially to the long-distance events. But they have also had a few people who could travel a long way without either skis or skates, two examples being Nurm and Ritola.

Can He Take It?

"Oh, boy, can I take it!" was King Lewinsky's comment on his Max Baer party. Among other things, the ability to take it is also the shortest path in the general direction of cutting out paper dolls. Even in the gentle art of pugilism it is better to give than to receive.

There is one point that can be offered about Retzlaff—when he hits them no interpreter is needed to translate the meaning.

The Three-Game Year.

A correspondent says he has heard on the best authority that Harvard, Yale and Princeton within three years will be playing only three football games each a year.

This report has been under way for some time and there is no doubt that considerable thought has been expended along this line. But so far no definite action has been taken. The idea is to have intramural games scheduled up to November and then play a brief intercollegiate schedule with old rivals.

It might be remembered in this connection that Harvard, for one example, is already pretty well scheduled through 1935. It might also be remembered that no one yet has figured out a way to get enough gate receipts out of three games to pay for a full athletic program.

And no one is sure yet that any keen interest in intramural football can be developed if the intercollegiate program is cut down to that extent. There is more than one large problem in the way before any such drastic change can be shoved through. It isn't nearly as simple as it sounds.

Bobby Jones, collaborating with Dr. McKenzie on the new golf course at Augusta, says there is more kick in building, helping to build a fine golf hole than there is in making a birdie on the same. But birdies are not as rare in the Jones collection as they are to a number of duffers, for whom a birdie has more brilliant plumage than a bird of paradise.

FLYNN IS HOPING FOR OLYMPIC TITLE

A. U. and conference meets. If Freyer wins he will compete in the Olympic tryouts.

Emmett Toppino, considered the best college sprinter in the country and the best the south has had since Claude Bracey, of Rice, also worked out during the stopover, running with Conrado Rodriguez, Cuban 100-meter champion, who resides here.

SLATE MEETS.

Toppino, who has a time of 9:35 on the 100 and ran a dead heat with Frank Wykoff and George Simpson last year, will compete in various meets about New York, including the Millrose, N. Y. A. C. and Knights of Columbus games. He will run indoors for the first time. Toppino also is a promising Olympic hope. He will visit Atlanta later on for the Southern A. U. with Coach Gormley, who also will bring along a great quarter-mile that he has over at Loyola.

Yesterday Gormley and Coach Alexander got together to talk over old times. They discussed the early days of track in the south—the day of one-man teams and crude starting devices. There was the time that Gormley brought some L. S. U. swimmers here for the A. U. events at East Lake.

"They all started with the gun, swam out a piece, lost direction and wound up on the opposite shore," chuckled Gormley.

That was the day when the coaches had to go out and dig holes for starting sprinters. Once Alex and Gormley had to choose out three sets of holes in some very hard ground when Tech's dash man, Dean George Griffin, jumped the gun, being set back a yard each time.

"It got awfully tiresome, chiseling out those holes," said Gormley. Alex agreed. "The veteran Ted is an interesting talker. His pleasing speech is a combination of Bostonese, native Irish and Louisiana French."

He is the south's oldest track coach.

Bobby Hooks To Pilot Milledgeville Quint

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Feb. 1.—Bobby Hooks, coach at the Georgia Military College here, has been named manager of the Milledgeville Tramps, local basketball team.

Games have already been arranged with Gordon, Warrenton, Wrens and Monticello. The team will also go to south Georgia to play later in the spring.

Among those on the team are: Newell Bass, Arthur Crockett, Babe Florence, Earl Robinson, Buddy Hines and Randolph Fort.

Schaaf To Battle Uzcudun Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Heavyweights once again dominate national boxing program this week.

At Madison Square Garden, New York, on Friday, Paulino Uzcudun, rugged Spaniard, tackles Ernie Schaaf of Boston, generally regarded as the best of the younger heavyweights. The bout, at 15 rounds, is another in the series of heavyweight eliminations designed to bring about naming of an alternate for the championship bout between Schmeling and Jack Sharkey here June 16.

At Boston, on Friday, Charley Retzlaff, young Duluth heavyweight, takes on Jack McCarthy, of Boston, in a 10-round.

Out in the far west chief interest attaches to the return to the ring after a long lay-off of Young Corbett, Fresno welterweight.

Gordon Continues Undefeated March

BARNESVILLE, Ga., Feb. 1.—Gordon Industrial College's unbeaten quietest tonight defeated the Grayson Athletic Club five, 24 to 22, in a nip-and-tuck game here. The victory was G. I. C.'s seventh straight this season. Grayson had lost only to Georgia Tech.

The score was close throughout, with neither team ever holding better than a slight advantage, and the result was in doubt until the very end.

Smith, of G. I. C., led the score with 11 points, while Cowan, with 10, led in this department for Grayson. Harris also played an outstanding game for Grayson.

The lineup: G. I. C. (24) Harris (4) Marchman (5) Bailey (4) Smith (11) Cowan (10) Hayden (6) Garner (6) Foster (2) Jackson (4) Freeman (4) Bledsoe (4) Diggins.

Biff Jones Visits Col. Paul Parker

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 1.—(AP)—"Biff" Jones, former head coach at West Point and recently selected head coach at L. S. U., arrived here yesterday with his wife and two children to visit Colonel Paul Parker, University of Tennessee athletic director and coach.

They were former classmates and coaches at West Point and were in the same division in the World War. Both played tackle for the Army.

Head Coach Bob Neyland, of Tennessee, and his assistant, W. H. Britton, were on the same team.

Jones said he would leave Tuesday for Baton Rouge to take up his coaching duties at L. S. U. Football practice, he said, will start there February 15.

Jennings Faces Test Tonight

"Blue Sun" Jennings, whose unbeaten march through the wrestling brigade was temporarily halted by Jim London, the champion, returns to town tonight to meet Steve Znoski, the promising young Boston College grappler, in the feature two-hour bout at the city auditorium.

The semi-final match between Jack Zarnos and Pat O'Shocker will go on at 8:30 o'clock, following a short preliminary.

The little Cherokee, who has combined with the wiles of his Indian ancestry the art of Japanese jiu jitsu in the ring, is anxious to beat Znoski, who has risen rapidly in the estimation of Atlanta fans.

But Sun Jennings' task will be no easy one, for Znoski is one of the greatest defensive wrestlers ever to appear here. He has a method for getting out of every hold, and the manner in which he spins on his head out of the leg scissors is sensational.

Jennings will employ his famous

Japanese "nerve lock," the flying tackle he learned as a football player in college and later perfected for use in the ring, and all the other science at his command in an effort to throw Znoski.

Should Znoski get a victory over Jennings, however, much added prestige would go with it. The Polish grappler realizes this and will make every effort to win his second match in as many weeks tonight. Last week he threw Paul Harper, the big Texan, with a back body-drop.

It is easy to see that this is one of the most promising matches Promoter Henry Weber has arranged here in some time. Both are young and promising. Particularly Znoski, who has earned the stamp of approval of "Thees Jeem" London, himself.

London ventured the opinion here that Znoski was the more promising of the younger wrestlers and will go far in the game.

Jennings will see about that. He will attempt to put a stop to the popularity winning of this young "upstart."

Jack Zarnos, former Ohio State athlete, meets Pat O'Shocker, the red-headed "Shock" from Salt Lake City, Utah, in the one-hour preliminary. Zarnos has been coming along at a rapid pace here, while O'Shocker has managed to hold his own with opponents, young and old, in many matches here in the past. This bout promises action of a wild and entertaining variety.

Tickets may be secured all day today until 6 o'clock at Davison-Paxon Company and the Piedmont Hatters. Ladies again will be admitted for 75 cents.

Pioneer Meal Movement Begun In Chicago, Ill.

BY ROBERT D. ANDREWS.
(Copyright, 1932, by The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—The great granddaughters of the Boston banker who helped bring the first railroad into Chicago served a 56-cent dinner to the five members of her household last night, the first "pioneer meal" in a citywide movement by Chicago housewives to raise funds for starving families. She is Mrs. Schuyler B. Terry, who first suggested the new program which met with such instantaneous approval from women leaders that today thousands of Chicago housewives planned immediate participation in the campaign.

Twenty-two leading Chicago women, officials of large civic and welfare organizations, have met to discuss the plan to their club members today. Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, chairman of the women's division of the joint emergency relief committee, mailed invitations to officers of women's organizations to attend a luncheon Tuesday at the Hotel LaSalle here, at which time the plan will be discussed. A portion will be served to show how easily Chicago housewives may cut a full meal for their families, while raising funds desperately needed for relief.

Mrs. Terry was in her kitchen cooking a dinner of Boston baked beans and brown bread. That dinner cost 11 cents a portion for the five members of her household, against an average cost of $3 for dinners on other nights of the week. The difference goes to feed unseen guests of the Terry household—unseen guests who, like hundreds of thousands of others in every corner of Chicago—do not know where their next meal will come from.

Just how much an average saving of $2.45 on one week's meals, according to Mrs. Terry's schedule, could mean is shown when you multiply that figure by even 100,000. It is the hope of women who vote for the plan that 250,000 Chicago families may be induced to sacrifice certain luxuries at one meal each week. But if only 100,000 families could save—and contribute for relief—$2.45 once a week, relief workers pointed out, the total would be $245,000, enough to feed 40,000 persons for a week, on the basis of expenditure established by the joint emergency relief committee. Mrs. Terry's great-grandfather was John Wilkins, one of Boston's bankers, who invested in Chicago's first railroads in the struggling fifties.

Nan Bagby Stephens First Novel Is Entitled 'Glory'

By Beale S. Stafford.

Nan Bagby Stephens, native of Atlanta, has written a novel on the Georgia negro, entitled "Glory." The story tells the conflict of two strong personalities, one being the hypnotic preacher who wields his influence over the inhabitants of a Georgia hamlet. The other is Roseanne, whose whole life is based on kindness, and not on the gospel. She resists the evangelist's spell for a long time, but she finally yields to the hypnotism of the preacher. Later on, Roseanne in a time of dramatic crisis, sees with clarity, and acts with high courage.

Permanent Addition.

Miss Stephens' first novel is a genuine and permanent addition to the body of literature concerning the comedy and tragedy of negro life. To that brilliant group of southern writers which includes William Faulkner, Julia Peterkin, DuBose Heyward and Roark Bradford, is added the name of Nan Bagby Stephens. "Glory" comes from the press on February 11, published by the John Day Company, of New York city.

The gifted author is a daughter of the late James McConnell Stephens, who for 30 years was head of the Western Union Telegraph Company in the south. His official signature, "J. M. S.," was famous and carried weight whenever it appeared. Miss Stephens divides her time between New York and Atlanta, making her home on Briarcliff road in the Druid Hills section. She was born in West End and it was because of the friendly instruction of Joel Chandler Harris that she owes her skill in writing negro dialect.

Educated to be a musician, Miss Stephens went abroad when she was 16 to study in Vienna under Theodor Leschetzky and Johanna Mueller of Hermann. She has composed songs, two operettas, and her first play, "Roseanne," was produced in New York several years ago. She was the founder of the Drama Workshop in Atlanta, and served as director of dramatic writing at Agnes Scott College for women in Decatur.

DuBose Heyward's Tribute. DuBose Heyward, of Charleston, S. C., author of Porgy, says of Miss Stephens' book "Glory" that it is "a close-up of the life of the Georgia negro that is, in many respects, unforgettable. In this novel Miss Stephens has touched life in the raw, and she has touched it with sincerity and complete understanding."

The attractive binding is of egg-shell tinted cloth, the title, name of the author and publisher being lettered in brown. The picture of Nan Bagby Stephens is sketched on a loose page of the book. "Glory" will prove of decided interest to Atlanta Georgians, because of its author's complete knowledge of the characters and their background.

their new station in Panama, where Lieutenant Williams will be on duty with the quartermaster corps.

Symphony Orchestra Gives Concert Here Tomorrow Evening

To add to the enjoyment of the concert of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra to be given in Wesley Memorial auditorium Wednesday evening, February 3, at 8:15 o'clock, explanatory notes on the program have been given. "Die Meistersinger" opens the program. The Meistersinger is one of Wagner's most loved operas, and the reason for this is probably because it contains everything—love, comedy, joy, emotion and a touch of pathos. And in the prelude to the opera is reflected the whole work in miniature.

Nocturne and "Scherzo," Mendelssohn, is from the incidental music to Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The Nocturne comes between Acts III and IV, and with its exquisite French horn solo, is a tone picture of the lovers in the forest. The Scherzo, between Acts I and II, introduces the fairy world of Oberon and Titania. The flute solo in this is one of the most famous and difficult in all orchestral literature.

The "Waltz," from Richard Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier," played on this occasion is not, strictly speaking, a single composition which is introduced at a definite point in the unfolding of the work. It is a resume of a decided interest to Atlanta Georgians, because of its author's complete knowledge of the characters and their background.

The last half of the program consists of the symphony No. 1 in C minor, Op. 68, by Brahms. He was 43 years of age and had already given to the world many important compositions before he finished his first symphony. This work, therefore, represents Brahms' mind in the flush of its most vigorous maturity, and shows to the fullest advantage his noble gravity of style, his high-mindedness, his dignity, his deep tenderness, his vigor and his musical technique. One gets from it the impression of a brain of unusual strength and profundity, and inexpressibly moving in its moments of deep emotion.

This symphonic concert by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra is the fourth presentation in the artist series of the Atlanta Music Club and Civic Music Association.

Prisoners' Elopement Frustrated in Kansas

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 1.—(AP)—An elopement of two Kansas penitentiary prisoners was halted here today.

After escaping from Lansing, Kan., in a prison truck, Miss Bobbie Phillips, 22, Reno county, and A. J. Williams, 36, a trusty, Wyandotte county, were arrested here while looking for rooms.

Lloyd Grimes, suspended policeman, said their appearances convinced him they were fugitives. He encountered no resistance in arresting them. Grimes is under suspension pending investigation of a dispute with a state highway trooper.

HAWKS ESCAPES INJURY WHEN TIRE BLOWS OUT

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 1.—(AP)—As he completed a fast 500-mile flight from Columbus, Ohio, tonight, Captain Frank Hawks had a narrow escape from injury when a tire of his plane blew out as he was landing.

The blowing of the tire caused the low-winged plane to veer sharply and narrowly miss a ship parked on the field. As the left wing scraped along the ground Hawks applied his brakes. The plane turned in a half circle and came to a stop.

Hawks had flown here from Newark, N. J., where he landed 2 hours and 10 minutes after leaving Columbus. His average speed was 231 miles an hour.

Burgess Children's Stories

PETER HAS NO CHOICE.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The time may come for you or your To do the thing we fear to do.

—Peter Rabbit.

There was no doubt in Peter Rabbit's mind that Jimmy and Mrs. Jimmy Skunk were under the back porch of Farmer Brown's house. As he sat in the moonlight staring at the hole under the porch into which Jimmy's tracks led, he knew that he couldn't be mistaken. There were those tell-tale footprints in the snow. These were proof enough that Jimmy had gone in there, for there were no fresh ones coming out. This being so, of course he must be there now. As if to make this doubly sure he had heard Jimmy's sleepy, cross voice under there, and another sleepy cross voice which could belong to no one but Mrs. Jimmy.

"I wonder if they have been spending the winter together, or if one of them is just paying the other a visit," mumbled Peter. "I wonder if they have been here all the time. No one but Jimmy Skunk or Mrs. Jimmy would even dream of daring to make their home in such a place. I wonder what Black Pussy thinks of it, and if she dares to go in there now. She used to go in there a lot. I wonder if they have made a bed on the ground, or if they have dug a home down in the ground. I—I—I wish I dare peek in."

But Peter didn't dare peek in. No, sir, he didn't. He had a wholesome respect for Jimmy Skunk and his little scent gun. "Jimmy and I are good friends," thought Peter, and we never have had any trouble. I don't want any trouble now. He might not care, and then again he might. He might think I was poking my nose into his affairs, and use that little gun of his. That would be dreadful. Peter made a face at the thought.

"Anyway I have found out where he is staying and that is something," he continued. "If he is sleeping on the ground, even if he is fat. I suppose he and Mrs. Jimmy keep each other warm. But I shouldn't think they would be warm enough in such weather as we have been having."

Peter didn't finish his thought. Something caught him to turn his head just then and what he saw put thought of everything else out of his head. It was Reddy Fox. Yes, sir, that is just who it was, Reddy Fox. He was just coming around the corner of the barn.

Reddy didn't turn aside. He knew about that hole under the porch and often visited it to find out who might have been using it. It was for this purpose that he was heading for it now. Peter waited as long as he dared. Then he dived for that hole and into it. He had no choice; there was nothing else he could do.

KREUTZBERG TICKET SALE AT CABLE CO.

Russell Bridges, manager of the Southern Musical Bureau, announced Monday that reserved seats for the two performances to be given at the Paramount theater by Harold Kreutzberg and his group of dancers, are on sale at Cable Piano Company.

Kreutzberg, greatest of living male dancers, will give two distinct programs on Thursday and Friday nights this week, each performance starting at 8:30.

Last year when Kreutzberg appeared at the Woman's Club auditorium with Yvonne Georgi, he created nothing short of a sensation and all who saw him on that occasion have frequently asked when he would appear again in Atlanta. His dances are startlingly original and astonishing in their bold daring. He is appearing this season with a group of girl dancers, each of whom is a well known solo dancer in Europe.
